MILLER STARR REGALIA

Arbitration & Alternative Dispute Resolution

We have a thriving arbitration and alternative dispute resolution practice which includes representation of clients in mediation, binding arbitration, judicial reference and other similar proceedings.

All litigation matters today must be analyzed for potential costs savings and efficiencies generated by alternative dispute resolution approaches. Our focus is always on achieving the client's objectives in the most effective manner, rather than litigation for its own sake. For this reason, dispute resolution efforts are part of virtually every matter we handle.

Many of the neutrals before whom we appear are retired judges or experienced attorneys well aware of the firm's reputation and capability in the area of real estate law. We engage in dispute resolution proceedings as if the case will go to trial, which typically results in the best outcome for our client.
