Miller Starr Regalia Names Kevin M. Corbett Shareholder In Real Estate Transactional Department

Related Lawyers: Kevin M. Corbett

Miller Starr Regalia (MSR), a preeminent California real estate law firm for more than 50 years, announced today that Kevin M. Corbett has been elevated to shareholder in the firm's real estate transactional department. Corbett joined MSR as senior counsel in 2016 in the firm's Walnut Creek headquarters.

Corbett, who has more than 20 years of experience in commercial real estate and corporate law, represents developers, owners, investors and tenants in commercial transactions, including acquisitions and dispositions, retail, office and industrial leasing, real estate secured finance, joint ventures, private offerings, tenancy-in-common agreements, construction contracts, and all aspects of the ownership and operation of commercial real estate. He also advises developers and investors regarding optimal entity formation strategies in the context of their specific deal structure.

"Kevin’s vast and diverse experience in both commercial real estate and corporate law has played a key and defining role in the growth of our real estate transactional practice," said Ella K. Gower, Miller Starr Regalia's managing shareholder.

“MSR’s transactional practice has an outstanding reputation and is full of great practitioners. I appreciate their vote of confidence in me by inviting me into the shareholder ranks, and I look forward to working with this group to continue to grow my practice and that of the entire department," said Corbett.

MSR's Real Estate Transactional Department has been a cornerstone of the firm’s reputation as one of California’s premier real estate law firms. The department frequently works in tandem with the firm’s Land Use and Litigation Departments to provide an integrated, full-service approach to sophisticated real estate transactions. MSR clients are involved in every aspect of the real estate industry and include many of the world’s largest technology companies, developers, owners and tenants of commercial, office, retail, mixed-use, hospitality, warehouse, data center, industrial, and residential projects of all sizes, national and regional retailers and restaurant chains, banks and other financial institutions, real estate management companies and entrepreneurs.
