Miller Starr Regalia (MSR), a preeminent California real estate law firm for more than 50 years, announced today that Briana J. Bramer has joined the firm's Walnut Creek office as a Senior Counsel in the Litigation Department.

"We are proud to welcome another talented lawyer to our litigation team. Today, real property poses new and growing legal challenges to our clients and we are thrilled to be able to bring Briana's perspectives and capabilities to our strategic thinking," said Anthony Leones, chair of Miller Starr Regalia's Litigation Department. "Briana is a well-rounded experienced litigator and we look forward to her contributions to our team as we work together to serve our clients' needs."

Bramer's experience includes a variety of civil litigation matters, including commercial litigation, landlord-tenant law, labor and employment law, professional negligence, and compliance with the Toxic Substances Control Act under the EPA. Briana has managed cases at all stages of litigation, and is well-versed in early case evaluation and alternative dispute resolution. Bramer has prepared several cases for arbitration and has negotiated settlements in over 50 cases with favorable results for her clients.

Bramer joins from Ropers Majeski, where she was of counsel. She earned her J.D. from the University of California Hastings College of the Law, and completed her undergraduate studies at the University of California Berkeley, graduating cum laude.

MSR's Litigation Department represents Fortune 500 companies, governmental agencies, developers, homebuilders, financial institutions, title insurers, property owners and managers, retailers, media companies, manufacturers, REITs and smaller companies in a variety of matters related to business, real property, commercial, environmental, construction and insurance-related disputes.
